

Myles Allan
English, Junior

Hello! My name is Myles Allan and I'm a Junior English major from central New Jersey. On campus, I'm the President of the Paranormal Investigation and Research Organization (PIRO), and a part of the Honors Program, which has allowed me to improve my skills as an academic writer. In my free time, I love writing (obviously), playing video games, and catching up with all things nerd. Don't be afraid to ask me about the shows I'm watching! I believe writing and storytelling is for everyone, and I hope that the Writing Center can help you find your voice. Writing is my whole life, so I'm very eager to help you all along your journey!

Aidan Berman
Psychology, Junior

Hey everyone! My name is Aidan Berman, and I am a junior majoring in psychology with a clinical concentration. I was born and raised in a smaller town in Maine. On campus I am part of the psychology club as well as the Honors Program. Off-campus, I enjoy mixing and mastering music and playing sports. This is my second year as a tutor for the Writing Center. I love writing because of how much I learn about myself through the whole writing process. I look forward to working with you!

Shoshanna Dansinger
Forensic Science, Junior

Hi! My name is Shoshanna and I'm a junior Forensic Science major. I'm from Newton, MA and I love spending time with my friends, family, and my rabbit. I'm a co-president of Hillel, the Jewish cultural club on campus, and I'm a member of the Forensic Science Student Association. Though I have a STEM-heavy workload, I enjoy English and writing, and I'm looking forward to meeting writers outside my major. I'm a new tutor in the Writing Center, so come say hello!

Mallory Ferrick
Criminal Justice,
Second-Year M.S.

Hi everyone, I'm Mallory! I graduated from UNH last spring with my bachelor's in Criminal Justice, and now I'm a graduate student here in the Criminal Justice program. Outside of the Writing Center, I work at the CLR as a peer tutor and as a Learning Assistant in the Criminal Justice department. In my free time I love to listen to music and work on expanding my vinyl collection (and talk endlessly about The Beatles). I look forward to helping you all feel more confident in your writing abilities!

Megan Kostraba
English, Junior

Hi there! My name is Megan Kostraba, and I am a junior currently working on my English degree with a minor in Communication. While I am still working on my creative writing skills, I am skilled in analytical reading and writing! I also do an independent study with Bruce Barber at our radio station—another passion of mine! Outside of school, I am an avid reader of fantasy stories, a watcher of movies and shows, and I also find crocheting to be a relaxing hobby. Alongside those 'grandma-ish' hobbies, I also love going to concerts for some live music! I am excited to work with all individuals that come to the writing center, and you'll often catch me inside the library working on my own assignments! I will gladly provide all the help that I can at the Writing Center, so come down for a visit!

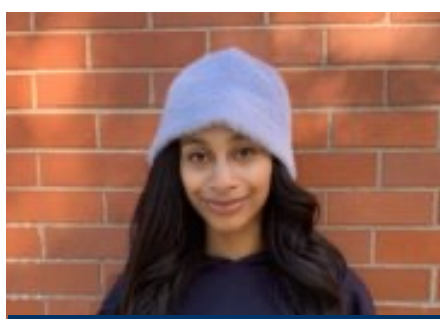

Kayli Langan
Forensic Psychology,
Sophomore

Hi everyone! My name is Kayli, and I am a sophomore working towards a degree in Forensic Psychology. I was born and raised in the Rockies of Colorado, so I enjoy just about any outdoor activity. On campus I compete with the UNH Mock Trial team and help to run the UNH Swim Club and Legal Society. My history with writing has been a journey full of many ups and downs and I cannot wait to help other writers walk a small portion of their own path! This is my first year as a tutor, so I look forward to meeting new people and working with you through any of your writing concerns.

Melissa LeGeyt
Paramedicine, Junior

Hi everyone! My name is Melissa LeGeyt. I am a junior majoring in paramedicine with a minor in fire science. Outside of school, I love spending time with my two dogs, baking, and I volunteer at my town's fire department. I absolutely love Marvel Movies and I recently started rock climbing! I just transferred to New Haven, and this will be my second year as a writing tutor, with it being my first year at New Haven! I love helping people feel confident in their writing and grow as a writer. I look forward to working with you all!

Alura Levy
Mechanical Engineering,
Junior

Hello. My name is Alura, and I am a junior in mechanical engineering, hoping to get a concentration in mechatronics. That may not sound like too much writing, but I also have many assignments where being able to write effectively is beneficial. Outside of school I love to read, play piano, and hang out with my peers. This is my third semester at the writing center and I'm excited to work with people. I truly hope we can learn from each other.

Stephanie Munda
Psychology, Junior

Hello everyone! My name is Stephanie Munda, and I'm a junior majoring in Psychology with a Forensic Psychology concentration and minoring in Criminal Justice. This is my second year as a tutor at the Writing Center and I am excited to interact with new writers and assist in any way that I can. I enjoy collaborating with others and I am always up for a new challenge! Apart from reading and writing, I also love art, music, and swimming. I look forward to working with all students that visit the Writing Center and hope that I can help develop your skills as a writer!

Nisha Patel
Criminal Justice,
Second-Year M.S.

Hi everyone! My name is Nisha Patel, and I am a second- year graduate student in the Criminal Justice program. This will be my 4th year working at the Writing Center and this semester, I am also starting as the Writing Center's grad assistant. I love working at the Writing Center and I hope I am able to continue helping more students with their writing! So please come down to the Writing Center and I look forward to meeting you :)

Enakshie Prasad
Organizational Psychology,
Second-Year M.A.

Hello everyone! I am Enakshie Prasad, a second-year master's student of Industrial and Organizational Psychology with a concentration in Talent Analytics! I was born and raised in India and moved to the States for furthering my education. I am involved in a grant aimed at increasing Entrepreneurial mindset in the UNH faculty members and am looking forward to work on another grant this semester! I like to spend my free time reading, journaling, attending concerts and music festivals, and going to museums and art galleries. I also happen to be a huge theatre geek, and always try to save up for the Broadway shows because they can be so expensive! Linguistically, I am fluent in English and Hindi, and happen to know a little bit of German. I have always loved writing for as long as I can remember, and I look forward to working and developing with you this semester!

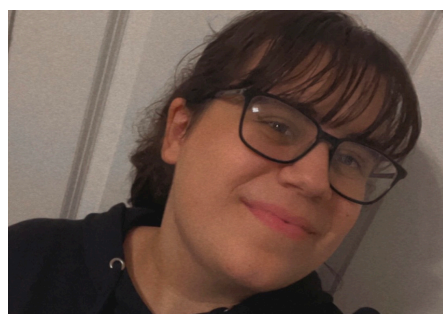

Pratima Poudel
Biomedical Engineering,
Second-Year M.S.

I am Pratima Poudel, a second-year MS Biomedical Engineering student at the University of New Haven. I am from Nepal and the youngest as well as the most pampered member of my family. Writing, eating, listening to music, and traveling are my favorite things to do. I can dance and never miss a chance to brag about it. Sunrise is beautiful, but I feel alive when I catch a sunset.

Kaylee Salazar
English, Junior

Howdy! My name is Kaylee Salazar, but you can just call me Lee. I'm a Junior majoring in English with a concentration in creative writing. I'm currently a member of the marching band, PIRO, and Sigma Tau Delta. Alongside that, I also enjoy reading, writing, listening to music, researching for the zombie apocalypse, and whatever hobby finds its way to my desk that month. Although this will be my first year as a tutor, I have always had a passion for helping others and the art of writing. I may be quiet at first, but once you get me to talk about words, you will not be able to shut me up. I cannot wait to help however and wherever I can!

Jennifer Vela
Marine Biology, Junior

Hello everybody! My name is Jennifer Vela, and I am going into my third year at the University of New Haven. I'm majoring in Marine Biology with a minor in Marine Affairs. I hope to someday work in animal care and rehabilitation. I am an E-Board member of the Marine Conservation Society, and I love being part of a student organization that serves to protect the environment and encourage people to preserve marine ecosystems. I am also in the Honors Program at the university. I have always loved to write – whether it be for academic purposes or just for fun! As a STEM major, I love working on new projects while analyzing ideas and concepts from different perspectives. I am excited to return as a Writing Center tutor, and I look forward to growing as a writer with you and helping you in any way I can!
